

Image of the Day

8 August 2018

Tempera on linen, 150 x 150cm. Courtesy Kristin Hjellegjerde

Sinta Tantra, You Make Me Feel, Mighty Real II (Sylvester), 2018

This cheerful work is by Sinta Tantra, well known for her large-scale works in the public realm, including a 300 metre-long bridge painted in her signature bright palette for the 2012 Olympics in London. Shifting between small-scale and huge-scale, her work occupies a space at the intersection between painting and architecture. She is currently showing in a solo exhibition titled Your Private Sky at Kristin Hjellegjerde London, with her bold, tropical colours taking over canvases, floors and walls. Take a break from the sunny heat and immerse yourself in her hyper-saturated landscape.