SINTA TANTRA

ARTIST

The British-based artist of Balinese descent is known for her vibrant colours and geometric shapes, and her artistic journey began when she was living in Bali. Today, Tantra herself is growing in renown with notable artworks done in partnership with international players in the many industries, such as the Canary Wharf Group. The resulting 300-metre mural decorated the sides of the Canary Wharf bridge for the 2012 Olympics. The colourful tropical palette she used for the mural, and most of her works, recalls her Balinese roots.

During the pandemic, Tantra continues spreading joy with her vivid creations while remaining safe in her studio thanks to modern technology. Within the last semester of 2020, Tantra had done works at the H Forecent residential complex in South Korea and presented at Dulwich Picture Gallery in London. In 2021, Tantra already has six shows and commissions in Jakarta, Berlin, Hainan and London—with many more surely to come as she spreads her wings wide.
